Never lose track of your game saves with KGRender, an application developed with gamers in mind. Created by the developer behind the popular version manager called KG Get, KGRender offers a no-nonsense application that supports both KG Get and KGRender. Intuitive, easy to use, and very reliable KGRender lets you save your most-played games and mods, right from the main menu. You will only need to save the files by dragging them over the KGRender icon in the taskbar, and you can also save them by selecting the Save button on the application. The software also offers the possibility to automate saves for your most-played games. To do so, you can define the schedules you would like the saves to be performed. You will only need to set the start time and the end time for the save and let the app to handle the rest. KGRender can even perform the save automatically for you when you play the game, thus saving you time and mouse clicks. The automatic saves are triggered only when the game is not running; if it is, the saves will be performed at the end of each game session. Comes with a built-in web server The application supports two different options to save your game saves. The first one is the main one, while the second one is simply a backup. The first one is the built-in web server, which means that you can access your saves from any computer you log on, even when the game is not running. This means that you will only need to sign in once with your Google, Facebook, or Steam account and that you can get access to your saves from any computer or mobile device. In addition, the web server offers the possibility to share your saves by enabling a public URL, so that you can easily share your game saves with your friends or upload them to your online profile. The web server also includes a feature called MultiSaves. This function allows you to synchronize multiple saves over the same session, and you can activate it simply by clicking on the MultiSaves button on the main menu. In order to activate the web server, you need to start the game, click on the KGRender icon in the taskbar, and then click on the settings button. If you want, you can also enable a “Save to Disk” option that will save your game saves on your computer; you can also define the game settings and the game modifier

Every month, we talk about nothing but new programs, game, movies and software in our Fun Pics of the Month column. While we won't promise that this time around will be the best, or even the most entertaining, we do promise to try to make this series interesting. It's about what we like and share with our readers. So, for our June Fun Pics, we decided to take a look at a few interesting web-based games that you can play at home or in your browser. First, let's start with Punch Your Brother, a simple game where you try to punch your brother in the face. It's a simple game, but that doesn't make it any less fun. If you like the game, you can buy the full version of Punch Your Brother for $0.99. Next up is Duck Pop which is kind of an addictive game that comes out on a daily basis. It's a game where you shoot ducks and pop them on your screen. If you like Duck Pop, you can play it for free. If you want to support the developer, you can buy the game for $1.99. The next game we found is the reboot of a classic, Snoopy's All Stars. It's a fun game with a silly premise and a huge selection of characters. If you like Snoopy's All Stars, you can buy the full version for $1.99. If you like any of the games we found, you can add them to your favorites. Do you have any suggestions for this series? Feel free to leave a comment in the box below. The latest and greatest XBMC release has been made available to the public. The release includes a whole host of bug fixes and performance enhancements. XBMC is a media center application that can play and organize any type of media content. The
